Write about 100 to 150 words in the following topic: The importance of being beautiful. Discuss

We now seem to live at a time when beauty is deemed higher than any other virtue and people spend a lot of money trying to make beauty last. In a world where the media is so powerful and everybody wants to look like a model, cosmetic surgeries have become too usual. Unfortunately, many companies hire their staff taking their physical appearance very much into account and in a competitive environment, being beautiful will add points to your curriculum.

Personally speaking, I think we should focus more on other qualities when esteeming a person, which are more important and everlasting, such as intelligence, kindness, morals, or humour.
